Research fellow, Affective Brain Lab University College London | | t.nahari@ucl.ac.uk
Max Planck Centre for Computational Psychiatry and Ageing Research

Education

- 2017-2023 PhD in Cognitive and brain Sciences, under supervision of Prof. Pertzov and Prof. Eldar:
"Exploring the World and our Mind: the Interplay between External and Internal Information Gathering"
- 2015-2017 Accelerated M.A program in Cognitive Sciences, under the supervision of Prof. Hassin:
"Eternal Sunshine in the Spotless Mind: Questions of Representations, Consciousness and Imagery"
- 2013-2015 B.A in Cognitive Sciences and Psychology, Hebrew university of Jerusalem

Awards and Honors

- 2024 Won the Israeli Scientific Foundation Postdoctoral Fellowship.
- 2024 Won the Susan Koret Post-Doctoral Fellowship.
- 2023 Won a postdoctoral fellowship for promising women from the Hebrew University.
- 2023 Won the Schlomiuk prize for excellency for the PhD dissertation.
- 2019 Won the Azrieli fellowship, participated in the fellowship program.
- 2019 Won the Hebrew University president's scholarship.
- 2017 Deans' list for excellency in M.A studies.
- 2016 Deans' list for excellency in M.A studies, faculty prize.
- 2014 Prize for social involvement from the Cognitive Sciences department.

Teaching and professional experience

- 2023-current Postdoc at the Affective brain lab under supervision of Prof. Sharot
Research fellow at the Max Planck institute of Computational Psychiatry and Ageing, University College London
- 2024,2026 Lead Teaching assistant in the UCL-PKU joint summer school in experimental, methodological and computational Psychology.
- 2024-current Supervision of 3 students in UCL.
- 2025 Senior tutor of data science for MSC Experimental Psychology, UCL
- 2024-2025 Seminar leader in year 1 Experimental Psychology seminar, UCL
- 2021-2022 Initiated and Teaching “fine lines” – an interdisciplinary seminar in cognitive research and art that took part in the “academy city” project, accepting students from all academic institutes in Jerusalem
- 2020-2023 supervision of a MA student and 5 BA students in HUJI.
- 2020-2021 First PhD student as a B.A consultant in the cognitive and brain sciences department
- 2018-2020 Teaching “research methods in cognitive science”
- 2018-2019 Tutor in “advanced statistics and computational modeling”, an M.A and PhD course for the psychology department.
- 2017-2018 Tutor in “research methods for cognitive science”
Organizer of the ‘brain awareness week’ and two international conferences: “Cellular and Molecular Neuroscience: From Generation to Degeneration” – April 2017; “Brainy Days 2” – June 2017
Events and publications coordinator in Edmond and Lily Safra Center for Brain Sciences
- 2015-2017 Prof. Gershon Ben-Shakhar’s lab manager
- 2016 Teaching assistant in “Cognitive processes for cognitive science”
- 2015-2018 Head Coordinator in the cognitive science dept. responsible of all the department’s events, and communication with students and applicants
